2010-2011 SNEC Young Emissaries

"FROM ISRAEL TO HARTFORD: EXPERIENCES & INSIGHTS"

The SNEC Young Emissary Program of Partnership 2000 is a 10 month long volunteer service experience sponsored jointly by the Jewish Agency for Israel (JAFI) and the Southern New England Consortium (SNEC) which is a partnership of 13 Jewish Federations in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.. Israeli high school students from the Afula/Gilboa region who choose to defer the army service are trained to serve as young ambassadors of Israel to the communities in their partnership regions in Southern New England. The mission of the Young Emissary program is to strengthen the ties between the two regions by building living bridges by means of people to people connections and strengthening the ties with Israel amongst the people living in the host communities. Our Emissaries work throughout the community in our agencies, synagogues and schools to build living bridges.

Yinon comes from Hoshiaia – a small village in the north of Israel. He has 4 siblings. Yinon graduated from a Yeshiva high school in Tiberias .While in school, he helped Ethiopian students both in their academic and social adjustment. Yinon likes computers, reading books, playing basketball, music, traveling and meeting new people.

Gal comes from a small village called Gan – Ner which is on the Gilboa Mountain. She is a high school graduate majoring in cinema and social studies. Prior to coming to Hartford Gal was a youth movement counselor. Gal likes to hang out with friends and family, watching movies and doing/participating in all kind of out door sports.
