The Rabbi Abraham AvRutick Memorial Lecture Featuring Rabbi Haskel Lookstein

During a career of more than half a century on American Jewry's front lines, Rabbi Haskel Lookstein has distinguished himself as the dynamic leader of one of America's most important synagogues, New York City's Congregation Kehilath Jeshurun, the influential principal of Ramaz, one of the premier yeshiva day schools in the Jewish community, a passionate voice for moderation and tolerance in the Jewish world, and a tireless activist for the liberation of Soviet Jewry from its oppressors and the defense of Israel from its detractors.

Rabbi Lookstein was selected by Newsweek magazine as the most influential Orthodox pulpit rabbi in the United States in 2008, and was one of the rabbinical participants at a prayer service with President Barack Obama at the National Cathedral on the morning after the inauguration.
